

REPORT on SPECIAL LECTURE on FORENSIC MEDICINE

A Special Lecture on Forensic Medicine was organized (under IQAC) on 17.12.2021. Dr. Chandrakanth H.V, Professor Dept. of Forensic Medicine and Toxicology, JSS Medical College, JSSAHER, Mysuru was the resource person.

The co-ordinator of the programme was Smt. Sheela Ganesh Course Teacher – Economic Offences. The programme was held at the Silver Jubilee Hall at 3.30 pm and nearly 92 Students from V Semester B.A., LL.B., and B.B.A., LL.B., attended the special lecture. The areas covered in the special lecture are as follows:

- About the role of Forensic Medicine in Medico-Legal cases and to know the overall medico-legal aspects and the cause of death.
- Introduction to the use of biological & medical terminology.
- Knowledge about crime identification. There's evidence present for all the crime, finding it out is depending on the ability of the IO. About how the people commit crime and how the forensic science helps in solving the problem.
- Manner of conducting forensic investigation and methods followed during crime investigation. The legal requirement of the procedure and steps that are to be followed in crime investigation. Dealing with unidentified dead bodies.
- Manner of approaching a Corpus. Knowledge on the types of autopsies with case studies & illustrations, Viscera test and other tests adopted to find the causes of death. Preparation of autopsy report, how investigating officers carrying out their investigation. How an autopsy plays an extremely important role in investigation and gave an insight into how crimes are committed in some peculiar ways.
- Insight into how a crime study is done, to view a crime in a different angle and how a single crime can be done by different methods.
- Forensic medicine/science in dealing with crime and to combat the crime in society.

(Photos – 17.12.2021)

