Foreword

It is a great pleasure for me to write the foreword to Law in Transition: Education, Ethics and Technology in Legal Practice, a volume in the JSS Law College Library Users' Anthology series—an admirable initiative that showcases the vibrant intellectual environment of JSS Law College, Mysuru. This anthology is more than a compilation of writings; it reflects the academic vitality, creativity, and meaningful engagement that characterize the institution and its community. The inclusion of themes such as “Legal Education, Profession & Ethics” and “Technology and Legal Practice: Impact of AI, Digital Courts, and Online Legal Services” highlights a commendable attempt to integrate scholarly discussion with social awareness and contemporary relevance.

At a time when libraries are often perceived merely as information repositories, this publication reimagines their role as dynamic centres that foster dialogue, reflection, and innovation. By providing a platform for users to express their ideas and experiences, the JSS Law College Library has set an inspiring example of how academic institutions can encourage creative participation and comprehensive learning.

I extend my congratulations to the editors for their vision and commitment in bringing out this volume. My sincere appreciation also goes to the contributors for their enthusiasm and thoughtful contributions. May this anthology inspire many more initiatives that celebrate the power of knowledge, the spirit of learning, and the elegance of expression.

Message from the Editors

It gives us great pleasure to present this volume, which brings together a collection of thoughtful contributions from the valued users of the JSS Law College Library. The book reflects the diversity of perspectives, creativity, and knowledge that thrive within our academic community. Contributors were invited to submit original works in English or Kannada across a wide range of categories, including personal narratives and experiences, achievements and success stories, life goals and aspirations, articles on legal and general topics, book reviews, opinions and reflections, multiple-choice questions, as well as poems, sketches, drawings, and paintings.

A library is more than a storehouse of information—it is a dynamic space for learning, reflection, and intellectual interaction. Through this publication, our users have transformed their ideas into meaningful expressions that inspire, inform, and promote deeper thinking. We extend our sincere thanks to all the contributors for their enthusiastic participation and valuable efforts, which have enriched this volume. We also express our heartfelt gratitude to the Management, Authorities, Chief Executive, Principal, faculty members, non-teaching staff, library staff, and students for their constant encouragement and support throughout this endeavour.

We hope this book will serve not only as a useful resource but also as a source of inspiration for readers. May it motivate more members of our community to share their thoughts, express their creativity, and contribute to the culture of learning that defines our library.
